

"Like it, Lock it, Keep it!"

This catchy little phrase should be embraced by every resident, young and old alike, if not already.

These six words capture the basic fundamentals of safeguarding the possessions that you have worked hard for; items that others might consider taking from you rather than earning.

An important step toward deterring the criminal element is denying ease in access; increasing the risk of being observed or apprehended. The longer a criminal act takes, the greater the risk. Take measures to obstruct or slow down a criminal; properly secure what needs to be secured:

-  A home with all its possession - locked doors and windows.
-  A vehicle parked on the street - windows up, doors locked.
-  A bicycle left outside - locked to an immovable object.
-  A computer on a desk - password protection enabled.

With the philosophy of Like It, Lock It, Keep It! you will convey to others that you are actively engaged with safeguarding your family and your property.

Be proactive, help your community to become a hardened target against the criminal element that wants in.
